HOGS, PORK AND PORK PRODUCTS - ANALYSIS OF FOREIGN TRADE OF THE UNITED STATES

Hogs

The number of hogs entering into our foreign trade has never been large, the tendency in recent years being toward an increase in imports. The larger part of the exports go to Cuba and Mexico while Canada supplies most of the imports.

Pork and Pork Products

The United States continues to be the world's largest surplus producer of pork and pork products but with increasing competition from Denmark, the Netherlands, Canada and the Irish Free State, a smaller share of the total world exports is being supplied by this country.

Bacon and lard were always important items in our export trade but it was not until the development of the new corn lands west of the Mississippi early in the 70's that our foreign trade in pork and pork products assumed proportions which placed the United States in the front rank as an exporter of these products. Production was greatly expanded and exports advanced until the average for the years 1896-1900 amounted to 1,469,000,000 pounds. From that period until the beginning of the War there was a downward trend in our pork exports, due in part to increasing pork production, both in European importing and surplus producing countries. During the last few years exports have resumed the gradual downward trend which began soon after the opening of the present century and which was only temporarily interrupted by the abnormal demands of the World War.

Along with exports of beef and other foodstuffs, our exports of pork rose to new high levels during the period of the War and the years immediately following when European countries found it necessary to import American pork and lard to supplement their depleted stocks. But pork from Denmark, Canada, the Netherlands and the Irish Free State reappeared in the world markets and reacted unfavorably on our foreign trade. Since 1924 total exports of pork and pork products have definitely declined, though still above the pre-war average. During 1909-13 the United States contributed 64 per cent of the total world exports, Denmark 19 per cent and the Netherlands 9 per cent as compared with 46 per cent, 27 per cent and 12 per cent respectively during 1928.

Lard

Lard is an outstanding exception to the decline noted in the case of meats and other meat products. During 1925-29, average net exports of lard amounted to 752,772,000 pounds, which was 19 per cent greater than during 1896-1900, the period of previous high exports and an increase of 48 per cent over the 1910-14 average when 509,184,000 pounds were marketed abroad. Germany takes about one-third of our surplus lard, the United Kingdom is our second best customer and large quantities also go to Cuba and the other West Indies. As a producer of lard the European hog cannot compete with the corn fed hog of the United States but American lard is meeting increasing competition from vegetable fats and oils in European markets.

Bacon, hams and shoulders

Bacon and hams rank first among our exported meats, amounting to more than a third of our total exports. During the last four years exports of bacon and hams have continued the decline which set in about 1903, net exports during 1929 amounting to only 252,532,000 pounds, and except for 1928 lower than for any year since 1875. About 70 per cent of the bacon and hams sent abroad is credited to the United Kingdom but a considerable part of these shipments are redistributed to the markets of continental Europe.

Pork, pickled

During 1925-29, average exports of pickled pork amounted to 29,312,000 pounds as compared with an average of 48,275,000 pounds during 1910-14 or a decrease of 39 per cent. At least a third of the exports go to Canada and Newfoundland and over 25 per cent to Cuba and the other West Indies.

Pork, fresh

Exports of fresh pork are relatively unimportant but follow the downward trend so noticeable in other meats. Declining exports coupled with an increase in imports has featured the last ten years and in 1929 shows a net export of only 3,332,000 pounds. The United Kingdom is the leading market for this commodity.

Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico

Trade in live hogs between the United States and her outlying possessions of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico is small and comparatively unimportant.

Considerable quantities of cured pork and lard are shipped to our non-contiguous territories, the major portion going to Porto Rico. During 1925-29, Porto Rico took an average of 7,230,000 pounds of bacon and hams or more than double the average for 1910-14 and an average of 14,774,000 pounds of lard or more than 5 times the average quantity purchased during the pre-war period. Purchases by Alaska and Hawaii show less fluctuation, an upward tendency being noted in shipments of bacon and hams to Hawaii while shipments to Alaska of both cured pork and lard have declined.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

DOMESTIC EXPORTS - Goods produced or manufactured in this country from either domestic or imported raw materials and which are shipped to foreign countries. The kind, quantity and value of exported merchandise are ascertained from the shipper's export declarations filed by the exporters with the collector of customs at the port of exportation.

Include exports to the Philippine Islands and Virgin Islands of the United States. Since 1902, excludes shipments to Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico from the United States.

1790-1802 - Include reexports or exports of foreign merchandise.

IMPORTS, GENERAL - Embrace articles entered at the customhouses for immediate consumption and imported articles entered for warehouse. Imports prior to 1821 are incomplete, as imports paying ad valorem duties were reported in value, but not in quantity and prior to 1817 the imports paying specific duties were reported in quantity but not in value.

Include imports from the Philippine Islands and Virgin Islands of the United States. Since 1902, exclude shipments to the United States from Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico.

IMPORTS FOR CONSUMPTION - Embrace articles entered for immediate consumption and imported articles withdrawn from warehouse for consumption. The statement of general imports and the statement of imports entered for consumption for any period will always differ to the extent that the value of entries for warehouse for the period differs from the value of withdrawals from warehouse for consumption. The term "entry for consumption" is the technical name of the import entry made at the customhouse and implies that the goods have been delivered into the custody of the importer and that the duties have been paid on the dutiable portion. Some of them may be afterward exported.

Imports for consumption were first reported in 1867 and published in 1868.

KIND, QUANTITY AND VALUE OF IMPORTS - The kind, quantity and value of imported merchandise are ascertained from the entry filed by the importer at the customhouse.

The value of imported merchandise as shown in the statistical tables is the foreign value or the export value, whichever is higher; that is, the market value or the price at which the merchandise, at the time of exportation to the United States, is offered for sale in the principal markets of the country from which exported, including the cost of containers or coverings and all expenses incident to placing the merchandise in condition ready for shipment to the United States.

REEXPORTS OR EXPORTS OF FOREIGN MERCHANDISE - Goods which have been imported into this country either for reexport or consumption and are afterward exported having undergone no change in form or condition or enhancement in value by application of labor in the United States.

1790-1802 - Combined with domestic exports.

NET EXPORTS - Domestic exports and reexports minus imports.

NET IMPORTS - Imports minus domestic exports and reexports.

AVERAGE EXPORTS VALUE PER UNIT - These have been computed by dividing the total export value each year by the total quantity and are not to be regarded as a quotation of prices.

The value upon which a given average in this table was based is composed of items which represent shipments possibly of different grades of the articles mentioned from different parts of the United States and at different seasons of the year. The actual value of any one shipment included in this total is its value at the time and place of exportation.

CONVERSIONS - Barrels reduced to pounds on the basis that 1 barrel weighs 200 pounds.

YEARS - The years end as follows: September 30, 1790-1842; nine months, October 1, 1842 - June 30, 1843; June 30, 1844-1929.

LEADERS - Indicate no information exists but do not necessarily signify that, there were no figures for that period as they may have been included with "all other" or with the "unenumerated".

NONCONTIGUOUS TERRITORY - In the statistics of foreign commerce of the United States, the Philippine Islands are treated as a foreign country.

The statistics of foreign commerce include the trade of the customs districts of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico with foreign countries but do not include the trade of these territories with the United States.

In 1903, the trade with Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico was for the first time fully and definitely recorded (See Commerce and Navigation of the United States, 1903, Vol. 1, page 31). Therefore separate tables have been compiled showing shipments from the United States to Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, 1903-1929.

The collection of statistics of trade with all noncontiguous territory was authorized by an act of Congress, April 29, 1902.
